Lightning Starts Fire

A tree that had been struck by lightning during the thunderstorm that passed over Crawford County Sunday, July 10, smoldered for hours, and then ignited Monday afternoon and burned four acres of woodland.

Duane Brooks, DNR fire officer, reported that the fire, located on Stephan Bridge Road, 2½ miles south of M-72 East temporarily threatened several structures; however, fire fighters were able to quickly bring the blaze under control and avert additional losses.

DNR and Grayling City and Township Fire Departments were dispatched at approximately 1:00 p.m.

Firecrackers May Have Started Beaver Creek Roadside Fires

Five ground fires with no explainable cause have ignited along the roadides in Beaver Creek Township in the past two weeks.

Ed Holtcamp, Fire Chief for the Beaver Creek Fire Department, stated that township firemen extinguished three fires, and residents who were driving and spotted the other two, extinguished them while they were still small.

Holtcamp said that he has received several reports of firecrackers being thrown out the windows of moving vehicles. "This action is inconsistent with good common sense," stated Holtcamp. "With conditions as dry as they are, as well as considering that the use of fireworks are illegal in the State of Michigan, these individuals are clearly not thinking of the costly ramifications of their thoughtlessness."

Beaver Creek firemen were dispatched four times between Friday, July 8, and Monday, July 10. The department extinguished two ground fires, removed a tree that had fallen over a power line, and assisted with a systems fire at the Weyerhaeuser Plant.

6th Annual Cornell Tennis Tournament Scheduled for Saturday, July 23

The Cornell Tennis Tournament, open to players of all ages, will be held Saturday, July 23, at the GHS tennis courts. Singles, doubles, and mixed doubles will be offered with players divided into as many age divisions as practical. The tournament, normally held during the Milltown Festival, was moved ahead a week to avoid conflicting with a heavy schedule of Milltown events on Saturday, July 30.

"This is a good year for local players who haven't entered before to see what the tournament is like," said tournament organizer Jon Thompson. "It's a fun tournament and no tennis players should be scared off because they don't feel they are good enough."

Entry forms are available at the Avalanche or Cornell Insurance.

90 Entries Expected For 1988 Milltown Parade

As the July 15th deadline nears, the Milltown Parade Committee expects ninety entries in this year's quality event. At least four bands will be featured, including the Nu-Tones, a polka group from Saginaw, the 5th Michigan Volunteer Infantry Regimental Band from Novi, music by the Michigan National Guard as well as our own talented Viking school band. In addition the ever popular caliope from Leslie, MI, and several floats with music will be providing entertainment.

The parade's heritage theme will present a colorful and exciting array for spectators along a route beginning just north of Mercy Hospital, at the corner of Galen and Michigan, and proceeding down Michigan to the Grayling State Bank corner, then turning north on Peninsular St. and continuing to the corner of Lake St. before disbanding. No street parking will be permitted along the parade route. Colored ribbon will designate the viewer areas in some sections as safety remains a top priority.

Murder Suspect Remains At Large, Considered Dangerous

An open murder warrant has been issued by the Crawford County Sheriff Department for Laverne William Hoy in connection with the death of Jean Audrey Love, a Grayling woman.

Sheriff Department officials reported that they received a call on Wednesday, July 6, at 2:55 p.m., stating that a customer and a Stroh's delivery man found a woman down at the Hard Times Saloon, located on M-72 East and Wakeley Bridge Road. Upon investigation Sheriff's deputies found the body of 34 year old Jean Audrey Love inside the Hard Times. A spokesperson for the Sheriff's Department stated that the victim had been beaten to death with a device used as a club.

Personnel from the Grayling based Michigan State Police crime laboratory were called to aid in the investigation.

The Sheriff's Department estimates that the incident occurred between 2:00 p.m. and 2:50 p.m. They reported that approximately $290.00 was missing from the bar.

On July 8th an open murder warrant was issued for Laverne William Hoy. The Crawford County Sheriff Department is asking for any information regarding the whereabouts of either the suspect, Hoy, or the vehicle he was driving. He was last spotted at the Hard Times shortly before the body was discovered.

Hoy, a resident of Beaver Creek Twp., is described as 35 years of age. He is six feet three inches tall, and weighs 163 pounds. Hoy has blue eyes and brown hair.

Hoy was reportedly driving a light blue, four door, 1980 Mercury with a dark blue top. It has Michigan registration: 121 WAE. The vehicle has some rust, and is missing one or both hub caps on the right side. Sheriff officials are asking any agency having contact with this vehicle to please hold and preserve, and contact the Crawford County Sheriff's Department at (517) 348-6341.

The public is cautioned by the Sheriff's Department that Hoy is considered dangerous and may be armed.

Love was an employee of the Hard Times Saloon. She was married to Gerald Love, and was the mother of three children. A full obituary appears inside.

AuSable Marathon's $26,000 Purse Attracts Top Racers

With this year's Budweiser AuSable River Canoe Marathon fast approaching on Friday, July 29, this year's field may be among the best ever. Among those rumored to be considering a try for this year's $4,000 first place prize are last year's winner Brett Stockton of Grayling and Serge Corbin of Shawinigan, Quebec.

Stockton has now won five Marathons, with three consecutive wins, and may be moving towards a challenge of the record five consecutive Marathon wins racked up by Butch Stockton, of Higgins Lake, Brett's uncle. Corbin is considered by many to be the top canoe racer in North America.

They may be challenged by Bruce Barton of Homer, Michigan and Solomon Carriere of Cumberland House, Saskatchewan. Barton and Carriere won the Shawinigan, Quebec "Le Classique" race last fall, beating Corbin on his home turf - an unusual accomplishment indeed! "Le Classique" is Canada's premier canoe racing event.

Last year's $25,000 purse attracted the most competitive field in many years. This year's Marathon will offer nearly $26,000 in cash and prizes, including a $20,000 cash purse.

A new feature this year is the "Finishers Raffle". All paddlers who complete the Marathon and qualify for awards will qualify for the "Finishers Raffle". Over $5,000 in prizes will be awarded in the "raffle"; all qualifying paddlers will receive a prize.

THURSDAY SPRINTS

Also new for 1988 are the Thursday afternoon sprints for Marathon starting positions at Penrod's Canoe Livery. The teams will paddle a short, looped course starting and finishing at Penrod's. The fastest sprint time will result in the No. 1 starting position for the Friday Marathon LeMans-style running start to the river.

Immediately after the sprints is the AuSable-Milltown Festival Paddlers Dinner at the Knights of Columbus Hall, followed by the Ice Cream Social and Street Dance.

MARATHON DAY

Friday has been designated as "Marathon Day" by the AuSable-Milltown Festival Committee. Everyone is urged to wear a Marathon T-shirt or hat to mark Grayling's "World Class Event."

Friday's Marathon events include the canoe measuring at Grayling State Bank from 12:30-3:00 p.m. The Pleasure, Standard and C-1 (one-man) "Challenge" canoe races start at Ray's Canoe Livery from 5 to 6 p.m. A BBQ Dinner starts at Ray's at 5:30 p.m. and the pre-race entertainment program at 7:00 p.m.

DAYLIGHT START

The Marathon will start in full daylight this year, for the first time in many years, at 9:00 p.m. Friday, July 29. Marathon watchers are interested to see if the daylight start and additional daylight paddling time in the upper part of the river will alter the strategy of any of the top teams.

The local Marathon committee is working hard to complete Program Book ad sales to local businesses. Funds raised in the Grayling and Oscoda communities accounts for over two-thirds of the Marathon budget.

Local community support is also key in providing hospitality to the racers and providing prizes for the Finishers Raffle. Volunteer manpower is needed for timers and other Marathon tasks.

To purchase a Program Book ad, buy Marathon T-shirts and hats, provide hospitality to the paddlers or volunteer your time to help make the Marathon a success, stop by or call John Cherven's Mini-Mall office at 348-2554 or Ray's Canoe Livery at 348-5844.

Dial-A-Ride Leads State In Ridership

In this article, the second of a four-part series on the Crawford County Dial-A-Ride system, attention will be focused on: (1) ridership; (2) the system's safety record; and (3) areas in which the system needs to make improvements.

CCTA ridership levels, on a per capita basis, are the absolute highest in the state. At the end of the last fiscal year the CCTA had carried 128,319 passengers. Based on the county's population, recorded at 9,465, the passenger/population ration was 13.56. CCTA director Dave Frederick noted that no other Michigan dial-a-ride system, rural or urban, had a passenger to population ratio even half as high as the CCTA's. Interestingly, two adjacent counties, Otsego and Roscommon, are ranked second and fourth respective to state wide passenger to population ratios. The corresponding ratios for the two counties are: Roscommon - 6.36 and Otsego - 6.24.

Referring to safety issues, Frederick stated that the system has been involved in only one personal injury accident in eleven and one half years of operations covering over 4,000,000 vehicles miles. And while this may seem to be an excellent safety record, safety related issues require constant attention if that record is to be maintained or improved upon. In this regard Mr. Bill Worden, the CCTA operations supervisor, is directly responsible for overseeing the training of new drivers in safe and efficient operating procedures.

The training process for newly hired bus operators goes through no less than four distinct phases prior to their becoming qualified bus operators. In the first phase new hires work directly with Worden respective to acquiring specific information required. State prepared printed materials and video tapes provide an excellent means for teaching safe operating procedures in this early stage of the training process.

The second phase of the new hire's training finds them riding with experienced drivers. This phase can last up to two weeks during which time the trainee learns by observing experienced drivers, begins to get some experience respective to radio operations, and receives his first hands on experience recording the information required in the driver's log. In the third phase of training trainees drive under the direct supervision of experienced drivers. During this portion of training the encouragement, information, and coaching provided by experienced drivers, as well as dispatchers, provide trainees the opportunity to benefit from years of practical experience.

The final phase of the new driver's formal training finds the trainee again working with Worden. Worden attempts to evaluate if the training process has left this individual ready, as well as able, to assume the responsibility of transporting passengers. When Worden is satisfied that the inan agency which was early in recognizing the need for recurrent training among professional drivers, has been particularly active in promoting recurrent driver education for law enforcement officers. Their efforts, which are under review by the division's level of competence allows the system to entrust the trainee with that responsibility, the system then has a new bus operator who is operationally qualified.

Frederick noted that the 'formal training process' having what can be regarded as a conclusion is a shortcoming that the CCTA must work toward overcoming in the future. Driver education is a continuing process which should never be thought of as finished.

In this regard work already underway for other agencies is expected to be of assistance. For example, the Michigan State Police, Michigan Department of Transportation, are expected to result in quality instructional materials being specifically developed for small bus applications. It is the CCTA's intent to put such materials to use as they become available.

Frederick concluded by noting that the recent school bus accident in Kentucky which resulted in the death of twenty-eight children has prompted the CCTA's taking a hard look at its own equipment for safety deficiencies.

As a result of that review, four potential areas of deficiency were cited and forwarded to the Michigan Department of Transportation for further evaluation. On July 7, 1988 the Michigan Department of Transportation informed Frederick that it concurs with the CCTA's assessment on three of the four areas cited. Those deficiencies will be corrected on all CCTA vehicles at the State's manufacturer's expense.

cant as long as the apartment or house is located within a 30 mile radius of the Grayling Housing Commission. This includes all of Crawford County, and portions of Otsego, Roscommon, Kalkaska, and Missaukee Counties.

Income guidelines which determine very low-income eligibility are posted in the Grayling Housing Commission office at 308 Lawndale Street.

Senior citizen guidelines include anyone 62 years of age and older, or disabled and unable to work, who meet the very low-income eligibility standards.

Section 8 applications must be completed even if a previous application has been submitted with the Grayling Housing Commission. Applications from individuals who have filed previously with the housing commission will be back-dated to the date of their first applications, and will not effect previously submitted applications for public housing.

Quigley explained that the Section 8 program will assist those who have apartments or homes that they are renting as long as the dwelling meets their needs adequately, meets federal specifications, and if their landlords agree to sign a contract with the Grayling Housing Commission to enroll in the Section 8 housing program.

Those individuals without housing or in sub-standard housing need to apply to the Grayling Housing Commission. If their applications are approved they will have to find an apartment or house that qualifies under the Section 8 program.

Individuals who are granted a voucher have 60 days to find a dwelling or have a voucher agreement executed, or they will lose the voucher certificate, and it will be awarded to the next person on the Section 8 waiting list.

Currently the Grayling Housing Commission is waiting for funds to be transferred and the administrative package to be approved. Quigley said that he expects to be able to begin signing contracts with applicants and landlords by August 8th.

...about your Social Security

Brides need New Social Security Card

New brides who will be using their husband's name, along with anyone else who has had a recent name change, should contact Social Security to have their name changed in Social Security records. A new Social Security card is issued, with the new name, but the same number.

Unless the bride plans to use her maiden name after marriage, the record should be changed so that earnings are correctly credited.

There is no charge for this service. It is free through the Social Security office — so don't pay anyone a fee to help you change your name on your Social Security card!

Just complete an application form (available at Social Security or at most post offices and county clerk offices); submit the application with proof of the name change, such as your marriage record. You must submit a certified or original record; photocopies are not accepted, but your documents will be returned to you.

Once you've applied, it takes about two weeks for your new card to arrive in the mail. It's that simple — and remember, there is no charge for this service!

The Social Security office is located at 1111 E. Front St., Traverse City, MI 49684. The telephone number is (616) 946-8360. Hours are 9:00-4:30, Monday through Friday, except holidays. If possible, try to avoid their busiest times — early in the week or month, and during the lunch hour.

A representative is at the County Building in Grayling on the first and third Tuesday of the month, 10:30 until 2:00. There is no phone service at this location. Callers should contact the Traverse City office.

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson

One of the best quotes ever published in the C.C. Avalanche came in 1985 from 4-time AuSable Marathon winner Irvin "Buzz" Peterson.

When asked why he was returning to race in the marathon, Peterson, who was at least 61 years old at the time (he refused to reveal his age) said this about the AuSable race:

"I was a little bit goofy in the head when I agreed to come," the Coon Rapids, Minnesota, resident joked. "But this race is something that is hard to get out of your system."

Peterson finished the race in a little over 17 hours in 1985 and he wasn't even close to being the oldest paddler to finish the marathon. "Bronco" Bill Brousseau, at age 72, set that record in 1949.

Former Grayling resident Jack Kolka has raced in 22 AuSable marathons — more than any other person. He tried to explain it by simply saying, "This race gets in your blood."

What's so compelling about the AuSable marathon? There are many unique features about the race but first, and foremost, it has to rank among the toughest athletic events in the world. Racers paddle from Grayling to Oscoda 14 to 18 hours straight — more time than is required for the Ironman Triathlon. Their paddling effort of 60-strokes-a-minute average is compared to throwing a shovel full of dirt over your shoulder from sunrise to sunset. If the paddling isn't enough, there are six portages racers must carry their canoes over — sometimes up and down steep hills. More than once, marathoners have fallen flat on their face on portages.

Close to half of the teams that start the race never finish.

"Some of the best athletes around come here and 'die' on the river," says Butch Stockton, five-time winner of the marathon. "People don't realize what this race can do to you. I've seen some of the best paddlers in the world pull out at Mio (less than half-way)."

"It's much tougher than running a marathon — I've run those," Stockton says. "You may have hit the wall once in a running marathon, but when you hit the wall here you still have 12 hours to go. You hit the wall five or six times."

Besides getting in the blood of paddlers, the race also hooks fans.

One of the race's biggest fans is Steve Southard, of Grayling. In addition to enjoying the marathon, he has also helped or led the organization of the race since 1980. He's been instrumental obtaining better television coverage of the race including a segment shown on PM Magazine. He sends out news releases that led to stories in the Detroit dailies and other downstate newspapers. Last year he helped write an article highlighting the marathon in Canoe Magazine, a national publication. And Southard has led the drive to increase prize money to attract more top paddlers. Last year the marathon offered a record $25,000 — the largest canoe marathon purse in the U.S.

With fans and racers like these, a special event has turned into something even better. If you haven't followed an AuSable marathon yet, you're missing out.

Annual Training '88 Went Smoother

By Maj. Gen. Vernon J. Andrews
Adjutant General of Michigan

Annual Training '88 is history and years from now we will look back at AT-88 as one to be emulated and repeated.

The move to the field from home station was much smoother this year than prior years because we are getting better at planning and executing the mobilization deployment phase of REDEX.

The 10 days of field training were designed to train to our real world war fighting tasks. With every unit in the Michigan Army National Guard now aligned with its CAPSTONE gaining command, the tasks to be trained to are clearly identified and more fairly evaluated. The Mission Essential Task List (METL) is agreed upon before annual training by Michigan Army National Guard units and their CAPSTONE command and our Regular Army evaluators are made aware of what the tasks, conditions and standards are before the evaluation begins. Execution of this phase was outstanding in nearly every area and your morale and dedication could not have been better.

Even with training restrictions imposed on us by the extremely dry conditions at Camp Grayling and the very high temperatures, our annual training evaluations were significantly improved over last year's and our external ARTEPs were just great. We received 'Go's' on every unit that was evaluated.

The weather was perfect for the both the Annual Review and the Jerry Reed concert. I could feel the soldiers around Grace and I begin to identify with Jerry when he began to reminisce about pulling KP when he had been in the Army. The fireworks which followed were spectacular. It was a great weekend and a tremendous Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Lastly, history will remember annual training 1988 as a safe AT period. With the exception of one automobile accident off post, where there was no designated driver, our vehicle accident rate was down compared to last year as were our personnel accidents.

I must also commend each and everyone of you for the exemplary conduct that occurred during the entire 15 day period. With very few exceptions, every soldier conducted themselves in a professional manner and demonstrated clearly that the Michigan Guard is a "good neighbor." Our critics have no cause whatsoever for any complaints regarding courtesy, damage to the environment or improper conduct. You were great!

I want to thank each and every soldier, NCO and officer for your support and many contributions to the 75th Celebration of Camp Grayling, a hard charging AT-88 and for all your hard work and fine efforts to make the Michigan National Guard and effective deterrent force in our nation's defense.

County Blood Donors Pull Through Again

Dear Editor:

As you know from publicizing it, the Crawford County American Red Cross, had a Blood Bank on Wed., July 6, at the American Legion, due to start at noon and run until 6 p.m.

The update on the Blood situation, in the Wolverine Region, that morning was, "the shelves are bare." The shortage due to hot weather and the long holiday weekend was acute.

Unfortunately, the truck with the equipment had a break-down and delayed the Blood Bank until 1:30 p.m.

WQON was alerted and did broadcast the time change. Nevertheless some donors did arrive at noon. Despite the hot weather those dedicated people returned later.

In the 4½ hours the Blood Bank operated, 87 people came in. WQON assisted by giving updates throughout the day.

The American Legion personnel was most helpful, in letting us place the numerous phone calls necessary to re-organize.

On Thursday morning, July 7, a call was received from the Petoskey Blood Center, stating that the people of Crawford County are the greatest. That included the donors who realized and responded to the great need and the volunteers who worked so hard to see that everything ran smoothly.

Our community can be proud of these wonderful local people and visitors.

Young Couple Bring People Back to Area

Dear Jon,

We all at one time or another write to you with all our complaints. This time I'm taking a few minutes for a compliment. Yogi Bear's Jellystone Campground and Park located 4½ miles off I-75 on Four Mile Road should get a pat on the back. The present young couple who have turned this campground into a great place to spend a day, week or longer are Greg and Marlene Schoo.

I believe in giving them a pat on the back for a job well done. I take my children as well as my relatives to Jellystone. Upon arrival, Greg, Marlene or their friendly staff always are there to greet you.

They have so many things to offer you there such as, swimming, games for everyone as well as other activities. You should stop out and see what is going on Grayling!

In three years, this young couple, has done this community a great favor by coming here remodeling Jellystone and telling visitors all the great things about our great town. They keep bringing people back.

It's great to live in Michigan and to have such fine young people like Greg and Marlene as a part of our town. I and my family want to say Thanks, Greg and Marlene. Please keep up the good work.

AuSable Group Seeks Newcomers

At the July 2nd AuSable River System Property Owners Association meeting a challenge was given to the members present to seek others who are concerned with the AuSable River area environment and ask them to join in the group's effort.

I'd like to invite all area and out-of-state citizens, whether they live on the river or not, to become members. Dues are $10 per year and can be sent to: AuSable River System Property Owners Association, P.O. Box 15, Grayling, Michigan 49738.

Together we can make a difference for the future generations to come.

Legal Action Threatened For Water Diversion

Governor James Blanchard, Attorney General Frank Kelley and Natural Resources Director David Hales have announced the state will take "appropriate" legal action to prevent any unauthorized diversion of Lake Michigan waters.

The announcement came after Illinois Governor James Thompson asked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to begin diverting water from Lake Michigan on an emergency basis.

The Corps informed Great Lakes governors of the request and they were in the process of determining its legal authority to divert water from the lake. A spokesman said a decision is not imminent.

Kelley said a U.S. Supreme Court order completely bars the diversion proposal.

He said the judicial decrees and orders entered by the nation's highest court in a series of lawsuits, commonly referred to as "The Chicago Diversion Case," limits Illinois diversion of Lake Michigan water to 3,200 cubic feet per second.

He also cited a 1986 federal statute prohibiting diversion of waters from the Great Lakes outside the Great Lakes basin unless the diversion is approved by the governor of each of the Great Lakes states.

"If officials of the State of Illinois make any attempt to surreptitiously divert the waters of Lake Michigan, in direct defiance of the orders of the Supreme Court of the United States, I am ready to take appropriate legal action," Kelley said.

Hales said the state remains opposed to any diversion of Great Lakes waters. He added that no one has demonstrated any connection between the action proposed by Thompson and solving any of the problems resulting from the current drought.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs also had opposed diversion, saying it would have widespread impact on the economy of the region and on the "delicate ecosystems of the Great Lakes Basin."

Youth Corps Applicants Double Number of Available Jobs

Labor Director Elizabeth Howe has reported more than 29,600 unemployed youth have applied for 15,000 jobs with the 1988 Michigan Youth Corps.

In Detroit, 9,291 youths applied for 3,643 jobs. In the greater Flint area, applicants totaled 4,093 for 1,072 jobs. The central Upper Peninsula has five times as many applicants as jobs with 1,202 youths applying for 244 jobs. The Bay-Midland-Saginaw area reports 2,228 applicants for 782 jobs.

Howe announced the number of applicants and jobs available to make a pitch for increased funding for the 1989 program.

Current-year funding of $20 million will provide minimum wage jobs for 15,000 youths in the 18-21 age group. Last summer, $27.3 million was allocated for the program when 22,000 youths were employed. The governor has requested $25 million in fiscal 1988-89 for the 1989 Youth Corps program.

Almanack

One meaning of Freedom

by Richard Milliman

NOW THAT the United States has observed its 212th birthday, the thought occurs that as a nation we really don't pay much attention to our heritage as a free nation.

In short, we seem to observe the Fourth of July merely as a summer holiday, pretty much neglecting its origins. The Independence Day holiday, after all, was designed to mark our declaration of freedom back in 1776.

So what happens around America on July 4 these days?

HERE AND THERE, some communities have parades, which usually feature a handful of veterans and bands and horses and old cars and usually lots of flags.

Communities tend toward carnivals and festivals for Independence Day observance, with emphasis on recreation and hardly a mention of patriotism.

And of course, there are fireworks... usually lots of fireworks, with smoke and fire and noise; but fireworks glorify battle, not freedom.

Then there are ball games, or softball tournaments, or golf outings, or fishing derbies, or stock car races, or other forms of rather mild athletic competition.

Much of the July 4 emphasis is on family gatherings. Grandma and Grandpa, or Mom and Dad, or Uncle Jake, get out the grill, and put on the hamburgers and hotdogs, and the family gathers to eat and visit and grow a bit closer.

DO WE neglect patriotism? Are we ignoring the real meaning of Independence Day? Is the observance of July 4 deteriorating from what it was in the good old days?

Well, maybe. But if so, what's wrong with that?

My memory of July 4 goes back about a half-century now, which is about one-quarter of our nation's existence. I don't recall things being much different today than they always have been.

America means freedom, and that includes freedom to observe our nation's birthday in ways which we find pleasant and personally meaningful. That's what most of us do on the Fourth of July, and that's the way it should be.

FRONT LINE JOURNALISM — In many ways, journalists can be considered as front line participants in the continuing quest for worldwide freedom.

A sobering statistic for those in our profession reveals that 26 journalists were killed in the line of duty around the world in 1987. This statistic should be just as sobering for serious observers of world affairs as well.

The figures were compiled by the Committee to Protect Journalists, which is a non-profit, non-partisan America-based organization dedicated to defend the rights of journalists worldwide.

Several other abuses of the fight for information in 1987 were cited by the committee, including these: 59 journalists were assaulted in the line of duty. More than 180 journalists were arrested. Eleven were forced to leave their own countries under threat, 32 journalists were expelled from countries where they were working.

Around the world, freedom for people and freedom of the press go hand in hand. People cannot be free unless they have ready access to dependable information, and that's the essence of press freedom.

It's no coincidence that the two institutions — a free people and a free press — have flourished side by side in the United States.

TAKE TIME TO LIVE — In these hurly burly times — and when were they not? — it's easy to get wrapped up in what we think are the important things and lose sight of more essential values. Consider if you will, the following advice (author unknown):

Take time to work — it is the price of success.

Take time to think — it is the source of power.

Take time to play — it is the secret of perpetual youth.

Take time to read — it is the fountain of wisdom.

Take time to worship — it is the highway to reverence.

Take time to be friendly — it is the road to happiness.

Take time to laugh — it is the music of the soul.

Take time to dream — it is hitching your wagon to a star.

Take time to live.

BARGAIN FRAMES?

QUESTION: I know it's important to have carefully prescribed glasses. But how important is the frame? Doesn't it make sense to spend as little as possible?

ANSWER: You can look for bargains that save you money initially. But if your glasses aren't comfortable, if you have to select from only a few styles that aren't well-made, that's no bargain. You want glasses you can wear in comfort and will last for a long time. Something so important that you use every day in your work or at home deserves careful consideration. If you're like most people, you're concerned about your appearance. You want your glasses to look good as well as fit well and comfortably on your face. The proper frames are just as important as the proper lenses.

Thank You

We would like to thank General Mathieu, Colonel Nunn, Sgt. Spencer, and all in the National Guard who helped return our dog, who was missing one month ago. It's very comforting to know there are some people who care enough to take action. He may have been nothing to look at, but he was ours. Our thanks gentlemen, is all we have to give to let you know that you're very much appreciated and respected. Thank you again. Now our home feels like home again.

We would also like to thank AMAC for leading us in the right direction, without you we may not have our dog with us today. Thank you again for your support. And a special thank you to our local animal shelter "deputy" Marge Mathews and Dixie Lobsinger, who helped, listened, and was there to support us. Thank you! Ladies for the kindness and love of animals. No matter what they are or look like! In our eyes you have been fantastic! Thank you again and keep up the good work. There could be no two better people suited for their jobs, where there is no room for discrimination. Thank you again ladies for an outstanding job well done.

And to "the ones who would rather things be left the way they are." It's a shame that someone with such high attitudes have such shallow minds. Maybe if we all just sat on it, our problems would go away. Your opinions almost cost my family their dog. Pretty high price for so little knowledge of facts!

Again Thank You
To all for your support

I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You
By Brad Scheer

Here's a surprising fact... Although Wade Boggs is one of the top hitters in big league baseball today, leading the American League in batting in 4 of the last 5 years, he spent 6 full seasons in the minors before anyone would give him a chance in the majors... Boggs played in the minors from 1976 through 1981 and wasn't protected in the minor league draft, so anybody could have had him... The Red Sox brought Boggs up in 1982... He hit .349 that year and has been a great hitter ever since.

Did you know that a major league baseball manager was once replaced after just ONE game at the beginning of a season?... It happened in 1960 when the Philadelphia Phillies lost their opening game of the year... Manager Eddie Sawyer was then replaced by Gene Mauch.

One of the most amazing and little-known records in big league baseball was set by Ed Roebuck of the Dodgers between 1960 and 1962... Roebuck appeared as a pitcher in 80 straight games without ever losing a game!... During that streak, Roebuck recorded 12 victories and was never tagged with a loss in any of those 80 games.

Palmer Weighs Baseball Options

Jeff Palmer, a 1988 graduate of Grayling High School, has a very important decision to make and only two weeks left to make it.

Five universities including Iowa State, Arizona State, Michigan State, Ferris State, and the University of Michigan and one junior college, Mucustatine Jr. College (Iowa), have offered Palmer baseball scholarships to their institutions.

Representatives from the Cincinnati Reds have been encouraging Palmer to attend a junior college such as Jacksonville Jr. College in Florida or Michigan's Macomb Jr. College. Attending a junior college would allow Palmer to stay eligible for the major league draft. Once he signs with a four year institution, Palmer is ineligible for the baseball draft until he is 21 years of age.

Palmer stated he needs to make a final decision regarding his career within the next two weeks.

Palmer has been playing baseball since he was eight years old. He began in Grayling's Little League program and has played ball every year since that first summer.

During high school Palmer was selected his team's Most Valuable Player (MVP) two of his four years. He was also selected twice as the MVP of the Michigan Huron Shores Conference.

Palmer plays center field, and his high school batting average was .318.

Recently Palmer completed playing summer baseball with the Mt. Clemens Baseball Club. He joined the club on Monday, June 13, and played through July 1. The team finished their season 16 and 0.

Palmer said that he would be spending the next two weeks evaluating his personal goals and future opportunities. At the present time Palmer is leaning towards signing with the University of Michigan or Ferris State University, and working towards a professional career in major league baseball while securing a degree in business administration.

"Right now," Palmer stated, "there is a lot of pressure. I want to make the best decision to help me progress towards a career in baseball."

Palmer said that he would be spending the remainder of the summer "staying loose" and preparing for the fall baseball season.

Shortened Canoe Race Open to Young Paddlers

Carlisle Canoe Livery will sponsor the annual Kids Canoe Race this year on Friday, July 29th, the day of the annual canoe marathon. This race gives area youngsters their chance to race in a shortened version of the AuSable Canoe Marathon.

Carlisle Canoes will again allow the participants to use rental canoes for practice runs at no charge, on weekdays only. The participants are responsible for their own pick-up of the canoes for the practice runs. Carlisle Canoes will not make pickups without charge.

Permission slips must be signed to be in the race. Kids can pick them up at Carlisle Canoe Livery, 110 State Street, Grayling. Canoes to be used are 17 ft. aluminum. Carlisle will provide canoes for those who do not have them. Paddles are to be no more than 8 inches in width. The standard Carlisle paddle and most wooden paddles are the right sizes. No bent paddles will be allowed.

There will be three age groups; 11-12 year olds, who race to Louie's Landing a 10-mile run. The 12-13 year olds also race to Louie's Landing. The older group, the 15-17 year olds race to Stephan's Bridge, a 17 mile run. The kids will start the race at Carlisle Canoe Livery, at the State Street Bridge promptly at 10:00 a.m. They should be at the livery at least 20-30 minutes before the race begins to hear the rules read and pick canoes.

Bits of Talk

By Sandy McAnallen

Ethel Parkinson of Grayling is one of the luckier persons among us these days. Ethel bought an instant lottery ticket at Dawson's drug store a couple of weeks ago and scratched off: "free spin, free spin, free spin." When she inquired what these three "free spin's" entitled her to she was told that she had won a free spin on the lottery spin-off along with other "free spin" winners in Michigan. Ethel said she tried to remain very calm when she was told she would win a minimum of $5,000.00 and possibly as much as $25,000.00.

The drawing will be held this Thursday, July 14, at the World Friendship Shell in Bay City, Michigan. The lottery wheel is similar to the one of "Wheel of Fortune" and on it are only five items: $5,000.00, $10,000.00, $15,000.00, $20,000.00 and $25,000.00. Ethel will join 5 other free-spin winners in Bay City on the 14th and each will win one of those amounts. Alma Zurbeck of Rosecommon will also be attending this spin-off since she bought an instant lottery ticket that looked just like Ethel Parkinson's.

You may have noticed several horse-back riders riding through the outskirts of Grayling the weekend of June 25. Those riders were from the Michigan Trail Riders Association who travel through Michigan every year around this time. The Michigan Trail Riders Association includes people from all over the North American Continent including Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Arizona, and even Ontario. The trip started this year in the town of Oscoda, Michigan and the Trail Riders ride for two weeks across the state to Empire. Their goal is to get their feet wet in both Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. The entire ride is almost 250 miles. Their route includes overnight stops in South Branch, McKinley, Luzerne, across Four Mile Rd. in Grayling and over to Goose Creek Camp in Frederic, Kalkaska, Schecks, Mud Lake and finally to Empire.

Linda Stephens of Grayling joined the riders in Oscoda this year with the intention of riding with them at least to Goose Creek but due to an unfortunate occurrence, she was only able to go as far as South Branch. It seems her horse was spooked by something and she was thrown. She was hurt badly enough to keep her off her horse and in bed for a couple of weeks.

Donna St. Germain of Houston, Texas spent last week with her parents, Tom and Marie St. Germain and also visited her brother Gerry and wife Debbie and children Jessica and Jill and other friends and relatives.

Rev. Frank Gross of Ohio visited his sister, Betty Madson and other relatives and friends from June 26 until July 1st. Other visitors were, Betty's daughter, Shirley Hayes, and granddaughter, Arny from July 1st-9th. Shirley attended the wedding of Liz and Scott Gabriel while here, and enjoyed all the July 4th festivities.

George J. Morse and his wife, Andrea and their daughter, Michelle Rene, age 1½, are visiting George's parents, George and Lorna Morse. They arrived June 27, coming from Heidelberg, West Germany, where George is serving as Specialist in the U.S. Army. Wednesday, June 29, Lorna gave a welcoming dinner at their home.

Attending were Ellen and Douglas Nelson from Lansing with their two children, Susan and Curt Jansen with their three children, Rebecca McEvers with her three children and her fiancé, Pat McCord, and the great grandmothers, Margaret Morse and Irma Longenecker. It was a lively party, allowing little Michelle Morse to get acquainted with eight of her cousins ranging in age from 9 years to 14 months. Steven and Randi McEvers and Bobbio King, Ryan and Tiffany Nelson, Paul, Sally and James Jansen. Only those who live in Texas could not be there.

Gladys Tufts and her sister, Melba Smith of Dryden, hosted a gathering of the McKinstry clan at her home on the Manistee River on Sunday, July 3rd.

There were 50 in attendance covering four generations. Many years had passed since some had seen one another and some cousins, aunts and uncles met for the first time. The Lower Peninsula was pretty well represented, Petoskey, Traverse City, Mio, Rose City, Dryden, Attica, Port Huron, Fairview, Leonard, and Emmet.

Family reunion time began the July 4th weekend for Andrew and Jean (Michelson) Wilson of Detroit and Lake Margrethe. Coming and going at the lake cottage this month are Michael and Sheila Wilson with Jennifer and Jessica, of Long Island, N.Y., James and Patricia Wilson, with Chris and Molly, of Haines, Alaska, John and Kathleen Wilson, with Michelle, Paul and Marie, of Livonia, Mich. and Robert and Jeanne Wilson of Redford.

Drought Hasn't Affected AuSable River Canoeing

While many rivers throughout the Midwest and in the State of Michigan felt the full effects of the drought, the mainstream of the AuSable River, in Grayling, just keeps rolling along. While low water conditions have limited or eliminated canoeing on some rivers, the canoeing is still fine in Grayling.

The AuSable Mainstream is a spring-fed river which originates north of Grayling. Because it is spring-fed, it is not subject to the fluctuations of run-off streams that rise and fall with the rains. During dry conditions water continues to enter the river from underground and flowing springs, easing the drought's impact. During rainy conditions much of the water soaks into the water-bearing sand that covers most of the area around Grayling and moves slowly underground, entering the river through the flowing springs.

Steve Southard, of Ray's Canoe Livery in Grayling, reports that canoeing on the AuSable Mainstream is still very good. "We are receiving a lot of inquiries about water levels and, though our water levels are O.K., many potential canoeists are hesitant or curious because of the extremely low water levels being reported on some streams," Southard said.

He points out that low water conditions occur each summer, but that so far the canoeing conditions on the AuSable Mainstream have not been adversely affected. Southard went on to say, "I think the best gauge of canoeing conditions is customer satisfaction and we have yet to hear any customer complaints!" He continued, "I was asking customers about their trip as they returned this past Thursday and there were no problems reported; our guests were quite pleased with their day on the river."

The U.S. Geological Survey (U.S.G.S.) periodically measures river depth and flow for purposes of historical reporting. One of their measuring stations is located near Ray's Canoe Livery in Grayling, where measurements were taken last week. The U.S.G.S. found that the current level of the AuSable River in Grayling is very close to the level of late July or early August, 1987. The river is still four to five inches above the record all-time low, recorded in 1946. A heavy rain Sunday is expected to help raise water levels.

Joins Crawford County and the Community of Grayling in Welcoming The Ohio National Guard

THE OHIO NATIONAL GUARD SALUTES GRAYLING, MICHIGAN

The Ohio National Guard, which is celebrating its 200th anniversary this year, salutes Grayling, Michigan, in the Diamond Jubilee Year of this warm and hospitable community.

For many years, members of the Ohio Guard have returned to this excellent military training facility in Crawford County. Our troops look forward to coming to Camp Grayling because it provides an area unmatched in the Great Lakes Region for National Guard training.

Although our troops spend most of their time in an intense military field environment, they value the small amount of free time they have to enjoy the natural beauty of this community and mix with the leaders and residents of Grayling.

We thank you for your support and we look forward to meeting old friends and making new acquaintances in the Summer of '88.

Speaking on behalf of all of Grayling I want to take this moment to welcome the Ohio National Guard to Camp Grayling and our City on the occasion of the 75th Anniversary of our association of the guard in Grayling.

Thayer is Winner at Detroit Racing Course

By Nancy Lemmen

If and when PASS, Michigan's cable sports channel, comes to Crawford County, local residents will be able to watch Grayling's own Damon Thayer hosting "Trackside at Ladbroke DRC" every Friday and Saturday evening during the summer.

Thayer, who will be a senior at Michigan State University this fall, has been employed by the Ladbroke Detroit Race Course for the past four summers as a publicity assistant. His job includes writing and speaking assignments for all media, but perhaps most interesting is his position as week-end host of Ladbroke's televised track talk program.

For each one-hour show, Thayer prepares for five or six hours. The first thing he does is familiarize himself with the horses and jockeys who will be racing. The day before, he uses the daily racing form to determine the three leading contenders for each race and then writes a few sentences on each one. "Usually it's pretty obvious which ones to talk about," he says. "And once in a while I'll throw in a long shot for good measure. That way I'm not too predictable."

Thayer writes his Friday script during "The Cosby Show" and usually preps for Saturday while watching "Miami Vice."

"Once I figure out the horses, it's easy to chart them because they race every two to three weeks. His goal is to analyze — not handicap — the race. "If there's a story behind a horse, if it's interesting to hear about, I'm going to plug it."

On the day of the broadcast he spends two to three hours taping the pre- and post-game analyses and the voice-overs to be edited in during the races. A typical day at the DRC includes twelve different races and Thayer must cover all of them in his program.

Since the show is taped, he can retape if he makes mistakes. "Something in my subconscious tells me it's not live, though I don't like to make mistakes. I have other things to do and the video crew has other things, too." He admits, though, that sometimes "I'll go through a 1-1/2 minute spiel and screw up at the end and have to do it over again. That's frustrating. Usually it's the on-camera ad-lib part I mess up on."

After he finishes, the show tape goes to editor Ken Kay who edits the pre-race analysis onto the race itself. Then Thayer is back in the studio to do 45-second post-race voiceovers. After a final editing, they send the tape to PASS by courier for broadcast later in the evening. "Trackside" is scheduled to air between 9:00 and 11:00 p.m., following the main sporting event.

Normally Thayer divides his taping into two sections, and sometimes he saves his script writing for the final six races for the morning they take place. At 10:30 he's done taping the first six; then he must write his scripts for the last half and get back to the taping studio by 11:00 or 11:15. "That's when the pressure is on." He must get done with his show so that O'Dell Video can prep their equipment for the races at 1:00 p.m.

LIVE TV PRESSURE

Thayer says that doing this show has given him great respect for those who do live television. He had an opportunity this spring to co-host a live 30-minute Kentucky Derby preview on the DRC in-house channel with Bob Raymond, the track publicity director.

As Thayer and Raymond each analyzed four different Derby entries, they endured a faulty microphone and made jokes when they twisted words. Their descriptions of Winning Colors, for example, came out as "spilly feedy" instead of "speedy filly." In spite of the pressure, though, he says that he likes live TV. "In the back of your head you're saying you can't make mistakes."

After Thayer introduces the horses, the camera cuts to a graphic, during which time he can look at his script. "It's very important to get the facts and numbers right." This is the only time during the show that he does not ad lib.

GHS THEATRE HELPED

What did Thayer do to prepare himself to be a television sports commentator? He says that his high school theatre experience helped him learn to react to people and they to him. His stint at Grayling's WQON gave him a feel for his own voice, timing and inflection. And his freshman public speaking class at MSU, which developed into a teaching assistant position his sophomore and junior years, taught him more and more about how people respond and act.

But actually having no formal training in how to behave in front of a TV camera did not dissuade him from giving television a go. "I'll take trial and error any day over a class," he asserts.

On his first broadcast, he looked at the black lens and said, "I'm getting no reaction." But his radio background helped him: "On radio, I thought of the mike as an audience. I had to visualize people listening. After a while, I visualized the black camera lens as my audience."

He is still working on developing a television presence and sense of poise. But most of his ability has come naturally. "I don't think a good TV appearance is taught. I think I'm blessed to be able to do this."

Although Thayer describes the PASS show as a small part of his overall job, he admits that it is a very important one. "I feel like I'm a part of something big and I can make the viewers feel that way, too." He credits Raymond, his boss, with knowing when he was ready to go on the air. "He gives me just enough direction, but he has enough confidence in my abilities so I can do a lot on my own."

Another segment of his job is to host the Saturday morning "Breakfast Club at Ladbroke DRC," from 8:30 to 10:00. While guests eat breakfast at trackside, Thayer provides commentary on the day's races, clocks horses' work-out times and hosts guests from the racing world. He describes his position as "a Phil Donahue role." He sits on a stage with directors' chairs, begins interviews with his guests and fields audience questions. Then he hurries off to tape his TV show.

Another responsibility is the publication of the annual media guides and yearbooks, which Thayer has worked on since coming to the DRC. In 1986 and '87, he did the media guides for the Michigan Mile Race, all under the direction of Raymond. But Thayer researched, designed and wrote this season's "Ladbroke DRC Media Guide and Yearbook," a full color, glossy, 42-page book which reflects his attention to detail and love for racing. He describes the '88 guidebook as his biggest accomplishment yet at the track.

STARTED AFTER GRADUATION

Thayer has always greeted challenges with enthusiasm and this job is no exception. "It gets better every year," he attests. He started work at the DRC three days after his 1985 graduation as salutatorian from GHS. Two friends in the racing business, Mike and Patty Vance, suggested that his early background in writing and radio might enable him to get a job when the DRC was purchased by Ladbroke.

He thinks that recommendations from two other friends, Dr. David Forbush, track veterinarian, and Larry Smith, presently the state track steward, helped his cause. He also appreciates the fact that his parents, Dan and Sue Thayer, of Grayling, trusted him enough to allow him to move to Detroit right after graduation.

He says his job at DRC is probably the greatest thing that's ever happened to him. "How many people get to combine their career interest, communications, with their hobby, horse racing? I'm very, very fortunate."

He's also very young, yet very convincing when he says, "I do know that I've found my niche in racing. I will make it big. Someday, the racing industry will know who Damon Thayer is. I won't have it any other way."

The Gospel of John

Part 41

A Sovereign God Forgives

The words and ministry of Jesus Christ in John 7:53-8:11 are denied or called into question in most perverted Bibles of the 20th century. God's spirit bears witness with my spirit in accord with John 7:16, 17, that this is Holy Scripture from God and we will preach it accordingly as Bible believers have for centuries past.

First, we notice the humility of Jesus Christ. "And every man went unto his own house. Jesus went unto the mount of Olives." (John 7:51, 8:1). As Jesus said in Matthew 8:20, "...The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head." Early the next morning we find Jesus sitting in the temple teaching all the people who came to learn from Him. (John 8:2).

Next, we notice the patience and justice of Christ as He is interrupted by the religious scribes and Pharisees in another attempt to discredit Him. "And the scribes and Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had set her in the midst, they say unto him, Master this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act. Now, Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou? This they said, tempting him, that they might have to accuse him." (John 8:3-6a).

They had a genius plan to discredit and destroy Jesus. The Roman government made it illegal for the Jews to exercise capital punishment. (John 18:31). If Jesus said, stone the woman, He would be violating Roman law and subject to arrest. If he said, don't stone the woman, He would be accused of not believing and practicing the law of Moses. Jesus knew the motives of their hearts. They were unconcerned about this woman in any way. Since she was caught in the act of adultery they should have been accusing the man also, but they weren't. Besides, the Jews had not practiced this law for generations. Immorality had reached the point many of the religious leaders would also have been killed if the law had been faithfully kept.

Jesus quietly "...stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground..." As God, He wrote Holy Scripture condemning them of their own sins, then instructed them, "...He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." (John 8:6, 7). As He continued writing the Word of God, (John 8:8), the religious leaders "...heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one..." (John 8:9). All her accusers left. (John 8:10).

"And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more." (John 8:11). Jesus forgave her by His sovereign grace and commanded her to repent of her practice of sin. (Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON 100 FM).

The Deacon's Speakin'

Deacon Bob Nolan

Scripture Reference:

Mark 6:30-34

Mark tells us about the way Christ welcomes His Apostles upon their return from their mission. He does not tell us what Jesus did during their absence. Yet one phrase seems to be interesting - Come and rest awhile. This seems to show that Jesus saved a time of rest and relaxation for Himself. He wants the Apostles to do the same thing. However, the crowd's plea frustrates this plan. Jesus gives in to this plea because he sees the distressed and troubled world, and teaches them at great length. This Gospel reading suggests two things: human beings have to be instructed and they need a teaching that is drawn from contemplation.

The crowd was not without agitators as is usually the case, but one thing about agitators is that they lead a crowd sooner or later to disappointment.

The people Christ attracts have already been disappointed. They feel He is the bearer of a new message, One Who has a power and an order that is better than anything they have heard up until now. Human beings who have not received the right instruction look like a flock of sheep where there are false movements one direction and then another. The crowd lacks that direction.

Shepherds who are incapable of and little concerned for inspiring in the people a genuine awareness of Christ, go about stirring up unstable ideas in other human beings. They try to manipulate opinion. Christians who are careful not to let themselves be taught by anyone but Christ and turn a deaf ear to a certain number of the more or less aggravating voices in the world are wise in the eyes of God.

Jesus invites His disciples to go to a peaceful place where they can enjoy a rest. Rest is a way of restoring energy. The rest of an apostle is for the restoring of all types of energy, physical, emotional and spiritual. In this Gospel reading we see that Christ and the disciples have given in to the demands of the crowd. This only proves that there are circumstances when charity, love and devotion are more important than demands of being a Christian.

The normal rhythm of life includes times of relaxation, recuperation and contemplation. The example of Christ and His Apostles does not tell us that Christian activities finds in itself the nourishment that it needs.

Active people who are successful in the human world see to it that they have a time for rest and meditation. How much more must an apostle of Christ give to themselves long moments of spiritual recuperation, in closeness with the Lord, in an out of the way place, as the Gospel tells us! An effective apostle gives to others what they have made their own in a long, loving dialogue with the Master. This is one of the crying needs of all people today.

LITTLE THINGS

Whenever a man or a woman is asked to recount their life, they are most likely to mention their wedding, the birth of their children or their first promotion in their job. These events are certainly important but, in reality, life is made up of many small events.

The things that make life joyful and exciting are a collection of many little things. Praise for a job well-done, a freshly-baked cake from a friend or a phone call from home, these are the things that make life worthwhile.

You can make a difference in the quality of another's life. The things you do for others each day can be very important. It's the little things in life that count.

By Phyllis Brummer

Over the years when cooking for a family, quantity cooking is not a problem, but when the family dwindles down to one or two, we can't fix pot roasts and huge meatloaves without being stuck with a lot of leftovers. But a little imagination can produce some very appetizing foods. For example, one chicken breast, boned, skinned, and sauteed only until the meat turns white, can be wrapped in a sheet of puff pastry which has been cut in half (saving the other sheet for another use). Puree a little mushroom, celery, and onion, season with your favorite herb, and spread on top of chicken. Fold over pastry and bake according to package directions, about 30 minutes.

With the chicken, serve wild rice almondine and pureed carrots. Prepare one package (6 oz.) long grain and wild rice according to package instructions. While rice is cooking, saute 1/2 cup slivered almonds and 1/4 cup chopped celery in 2 tablespoons butter. Add to cooked rice, along with 1/4 cup parmesan cheese. This will make about 4 servings, but reheats nicely in the microwave.

For carrot puree, cook one pound carrots, cut up, in 1/2 cup water until tender. Puree carrots and cooking liquid in blender. Add 2 tablespoons orange-flavored liqueur, dash of salt and pepper and 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or oregano, your choice. Process to blend. Pour into lightly greased one quart dish and bake 20 minutes at 350° or microwave, covered, for 2 to 3 minutes until heated. Again, this will serve four but reheats easily.

Mushroom patties will go well with any kind of meat. Drain and chop a 4 ounce jar of mushrooms. Combine with 1 beaten egg and 1/2 cup quick oats. Form into 4 patties and fry until golden brown on both sides. You might want to start your meal with soup.

Squash Soup for Two
1 1/2 lb. winter squash (1 cup cooked, mashed squash)

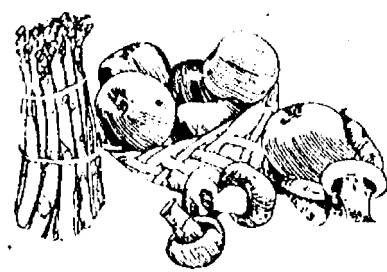

1 Tbsp. butter or margarine
2 Tbsp. chopped onion
1 garlic clove, minced
1 c. chicken broth
1 tsp. packed brown sugar
Ground Nutmeg

Cook squash by steaming, baking or microwaving. When cool enough to handle, scoop out pulp and mash. Saute onion and garlic in butter until onion is translucent. Add squash, broth, and sugar and puree in blender. Reheat and sprinkle with nutmeg when serving. Complete your dinner with spiced apples ala mode:

2 all-purpose or baking apples, pared and cored
3 Tbsp. honey
1 Tbsp. orange juice
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
2 Tbsp. raisins or dried cherries
2 tsp. butter or margarine

Cut apples into eighths. Place in microwave dish. Combine honey, orange juice, spices and raisins. Spoon over apples and dot with butter. Cover and cook on high power 3 minutes. Toss slices to thoroughly coat with sauce and cook an additional two minutes, or until tender. Let stand 15 minutes. Spoon over ice cream while still warm.

Fresh walleye filets make for great eating. While the cost per-pound seems to be prohibitive, the cost per-serving is reasonable compared to eating in a restaurant. Dredge two filets in flour seasoned with salt and pepper and saute them in 2 tbsp. butter and 1 tbsp. olive oil until golden brown on both sides. Watch carefully, since filets cook quickly. When done, remove to plates, add 1 tbsp. lemon juice to skillet and scrape up the brown bits from the pan. Add 1 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley and pour over the filets.

Double Your Money Back Guarantee

Old Pete was mighty worried
The potato bugs were very bad
They would soon be the destruction
Of the little patch he had.

He needed those potatoes
For the Depression stalked the land
He would sure hate to think of winter
Without plenty of potatoes on hand.

Then he saw an ad in the paper
That promised to make any potato patch bug free
If you followed their instructions
They even offered a double your money-back guarantee

Old Pete thought it over real carefully
He couldn't see how he could fail
They would have to honor that guarantee
If it was sent by the U.S. Mail.

He scraped together the five-dollar price
And sent it off in the mail
If it didn't work he'd get ten-dollars
Or someone was going to jail.

He waited for the mailman every day
Till at last the package came
He quickly ripped it open
When he saw the sender's name.

It contained two wooden paddles
Marked "A" and "B"

He quickly read the instructions
That he'd been had, he now could see

The instructions were very simple
They would live up to their guarantee
All they said was place a potato bug on paddle "A"
And squash it with paddle "B"

Doodles From The Tall Timber

If you haven't visited the logging camp museum recently, you may well be missing the opportunity to see someone you know in the role of an 1890's shantyboy. Three of my four assistants this year live in the area. Not only are they role playing, but they are responsible for many of the physical changes made to the period settings themselves.

You may find Mark Alma of Frederic as the "Iron

Burner" in the Blacksmith Shop or Tim Colling of Maple Forest may be the "Wood Butcher." Kurt Kolka, also of Maple Forest may well be the "Ink Slinger" in the Camp Store and Jeff Lloyd of Owosso may be the "Dentist" working on the 40 some teeth of a crosscut saw. Their roles vary from day to day, but all four of them are trying and doing their best to make your visit interesting, but at the same time informative.

So far as I and they are concerned, it is September of 1893 at the logging camp and if you want to sign on for this cutting season, you will have to see George Lundeen, the "Big Push" of Camp #5 of the Salling Hanson Co. In the meantime, Mark, or Tim, or Kurt, or Jeff or myself can provide you with the needed particulars. Come visit our and your yesterday. We are waiting for you.

Resource Review

Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

The Michigan Natural Resources Commission Orders for the fall hunting/trapping seasons have been promulgated and are becoming available. Most remain the same from year to year, but there are a few notable changes in which some of you may be interested.

Bear season this year is again split into two seasons. The early season is for the use of firearms and bow and arrow as well as dogs. The second season is for bow and arrow only. The dates vary from Zone I (the Upper Peninsula) and Zone II (northern Lower Peninsula) and will be published in the hunting guide later this summer.

Again this year, strict rules apply to baiting of bears. No bait station is to be established prior to August 27 or tented after October 31 in Zone I. In Zone II, the dates are September 2 and October 13. It is unlawful to hunt over illegal bait. An illegal bait is one that attracts bears prior to the dates mentioned above, is not placed on the ground, or contains any plastic, wood, paper, glass or metal. Any containers used to transport bait to the site must be removed and disposed of properly.

It is anticipated that concentrated enforcement efforts will be made to control trespass by dogs and hunters, unlawful baiting practices and other violations of the law.

For the first time in many years, Drummond Island will be open to the taking of bears. A total of 70 licenses will be issued for the two island hunts. These are September 10-16 and September 24-30. To apply for the Drummond Island hunt, send a post card with your name, address, passport number and bear license to: Drummond Island Bear Hunt, P.O. Box 30030, Lansing, MI 48909. Post cards must be postmarked by August 15. Successful applicants should be notified by August 20. A number of special regulations pertaining to this hunt will be in effect. They will be spelled out in the forthcoming hunting guide.

Downtown Improvement Project Nears 1st Phase Completion

By Nancy Lemmen
Terry Dickinson, of the Community Self-Improvement Project, is looking forward to the completion of the first phase of the group's beautification project, scheduled for before the Milltown Festival at the end of July. Located on the south side of Michigan Avenue between Peninsular Street and the I-75 Business Loop, the spot will have a gazebo, benches, brick-look walkway and professional landscaping.

Terry Dickinson sets pattern

Boy Scout Troop #977

At the center of the CSIP's project, a white wooden Victorian gazebo, which will be lit up every evening, will be built. In the interior will be an 8-sided kiosk, with information about the county, including lodging, restaurants, shopping, camping, fun activities and evening entertainment. Businesses will pay to be included, so the information stand will ultimately pay for the spot.

Victorian-style benches with wrought-iron sides and oak seats and backs will be placed around the outside of the gazebo.

The project began one Sunday in May when Dickinson with the help of Boy Scout advisor Clyde Johnson and members of Troop #977, sponsored by the Roscommon Knights of Columbus, and several employees from Ray's Canoe Livery - shoveled dirt and dug areas for the walkways.

The walks were made from poured concrete dyed deep red, then swept with a broom for texture and finally set in a herringbone pattern with a 4x2-foot device which Dickinson constructed.

NEED SOME HELP?

He was working alone one day when he says he heard a voice from the apartment above Art's Lock and Safe Service saying, "Need some help?" The day was hot, some of his concrete was setting before he could set the pattern, and he appreciates the two days of assistance he got from Christian Rideout and Obe Lowry, two missionaries living temporarily in Grayling.

The rest of the spot is landscaped. Ron Gabalis, of Five Oaks Nursery and Landscaping, provided shrubs and trees at cost (except for a lone pine tree which was already on the site), planted grass seed, installed automatic sprinklers and added some decorative stones and wood chips. Treated lumber, donated by AJD Forest Products, was used by Dickinson to make the edging and planter boxes. The lot itself is owned by Emil Kraus, who donated the use of the area until a building is constructed on the site.

Is Dickinson worried about vandalism? No, he thinks that people will have respect for the project if it is done with quality. He says he has never had a community project vandalized in the 15 years he has been doing them.

How did the CSIP come up with the idea for this phase of the beautification project? Dickinson says that when a downtown area has a vacant lot, often shoppers will simply not walk to the stores beyond it. So the gazebo area is being built in the hope that businesses at the end of the block will benefit.

The next phase of the project will be the improvement of the parking area behind the gazebo spot. CSIP members have planned flower beds and a paved lot which will provide an attractive access from the parking lot to the main street of Grayling.

Dickinson said that, "by and large, the CSIP has received good support from merchants." As an example, he points out the number of businesses along the main street that have remodeled their storefronts to fit the Victorian theme. He adds that many people stop and compliment them for putting forth effort on the project. And he estimates that the CSIP now has more than 100 members.

Progress Coming

Dickinson predicts that the progress to be made in Grayling in the next five to ten years will be astounding to half the people who live here. Cost of investing in Crawford County is still lower than in surrounding areas, business and industry is recognizing that fact and development is beginning to occur. That new growth will bring new money into the county and the next decade will be a critical period in the development of the town.

Is Dickinson concerned about overdevelopment? No, because he says that 75% of the county is owned by the state or federal governments, so there is no way it will be overdeveloped. And, at the same time, he believes that Grayling must grow to provide its young people with jobs in the future so that they are not forced to move elsewhere to find work.

Besides Dickinson, the CSIP members who are active in the beautification project are: Kathy Ashton, Kathleen's Plus Fashions and Spike's Keg O' Nails; Ernie Dawson, Flowers by Josie and Grey Goose Gifts; Clyde Johnson, Half Price Outlet; Maureen McNamara, Mac's Drug Store; Steve Southard, Ray's Canoe Livery; Judy Weaver, Weaver's Gifts; and Darwin Wilder, Davis Jewelry.

Dickinson approved of a description of the Community Self-Improvement Project as a group of business people with a vision and energy. Their vision is for Grayling to meet its challenge of growth during the next decade; they have the energy to help the community to do it.

The Outpost Offers Authentic Indian and American Gifts

By Irene Pettyjohn

Would you know where to go in Grayling if you were looking for a big piece of old fashioned rock candy or a white panama hat? How about a piece of Gregorian copper, or a camouflaged leather shirt? These items can all be found at the Outpost, located on Norway Street, along with hundreds of authentic Indian and American made gifts and souvenirs.

Entering the Outpost is like stepping back in time. The store has the look, feel and smell of the old resort town souvenir shop. Remember...the one with the big wooden Indian standing by the front door? The Outpost even has the wooden Indian! Mary Ann Madill, owner of the Outpost, said that the wooden Indian is over 100 years old. He stands eight feet tall and came from Hurley, Wisconsin. She said that the eight foot Totem Pole that also decorates the store front is 27 years old and came from Charlevoix, where it stood for many years in front of the Totem Gift Shop, a business owned by Mary Ann's parents.

As interesting as the statues are that decorate the front of the Outpost, visitors to the store want to be sure to step out the back door and look at the 18 foot Indian Tee Pee. Mary Ann explained that the Tee Pee is larger than the ones used by the early Indians; however, the symbols are authentic Indian symbols.

When choosing the motif for her souvenir shop, Mary Ann purposely selected the old souvenir shop look. She also wanted to feature a full line of Indian products. She said that the Indian played an important role in Michigan's history, and she wanted to preserve this heritage by offering Indian lore products made by Indians whenever possible.

The Outpost has been open for business since April, 1987. The store offers something for almost everyone. Mary Ann stated that an important part of her stocking policy is to keep the cost of her products not only compatible with her competitors, but also reasonable for the vacationing family. "It makes me feel good," said Mary Ann, "to see children come into the store and find something nice that they can afford to buy with their own money. Sometimes it is for themselves, or it can be a gift for their Mother." Mary Ann continued, "So many gift shops have become so exclusive, that they have out-priced a child's allowance."

The next time you have a hankering for a Root Beer candy stick pulled from an apothecary jar, or need a pink pair of moccasins, or are looking for a unique sweatshirt for that special friend - remember the Outpost. It is an unusual store featuring a full range of gifts and souvenirs.

THE OUTPOST'S EIGHTEEN FOOT TEE PEE — This huge Tee Pee complements the Outpost's old fashion souvenir shop appearance.
